

With 6,200 employees in research, teaching and administration and its unique profile, TU Dortmund University shapes prospects for the future. The interaction between engineering and natural science as well as social and cultural studies drives both technological innovations and progress in knowledge and methodology. It is not only the roughly 34,600 students who benefit from this.

The Faculty of Statistics is the unique autonomous Faculty of Statistics in the German-speaking region, offering a versatile research environment by managing and participating in several Collaborative Research Centers (SFBs) in the fields of Statistics, Computer Science, and Engineering.

The Faculty of Statistics at TU Dortmund University is seeking to fill the position of a commencing as soon as possible. The successful candidate is expected to represent the field of “Econometrics” in research and teaching.

We seek a candidate holding an excellent PhD and with first relevant peer-reviewed publications in econometrics and statistical methods published in internationally recognized journals.

Applicants should contribute to collaborative research projects within and outside TU Dortmund University. Experience with interdisciplinary research alliances and collaborations as well as in raising third-party funds is an asset.

An adequate contribution to the faculty’s curriculum in German and English is expected, in particular with respect to the planned English language master program “Econometrics”.

The successful candidate possesses the necessary social and leadership skills and is willing to be involved in academic self-governance.

The recruitment requirements are based on § 36 and § 37 HG NRW (law governing universities in NRW). The appointment is initially for three years as a temporary civil servant. In the course of the third year, this status will be reviewed and may be extended for a further three years depending on performance.

TU Dortmund University strives to increase the number of women in academic research and therefore strongly encourages women to apply.

TU Dortmund University is an equal opportunity employer and gives preference to candidates with disabilities if equally qualified.

TU Dortmund University supports the compatibility of work and family life and promotes gender equality in the university community.
